To Whom it may concern,

In 1988, my life was torn apart. My beautiful sister Arlena died, in return we found out that she was not blood-related. It crushed me. Since then my life has changed.

Even though I miss Arlena more than ever, I am glad we finally got to know our missing sister. It was not fair that we had to be put through this living hell because of someone else's actions. I would love for someone to find out who switched my sisters, and make them pay for their crime.
